

You and Your Estate: An Asset and Financial Assessment

---

Here at the Aga Khan Foundation USA, we believe that planning for the future is essential and we understand the importance of ensuring a financially secure future for those you care about. This estate planning toolkit can help you begin thinking about how you want to plan for the future. We encourage you to think about how you want your estate to be managed and how you want your assets to be distributed. When writing your estate plan, your legal and financial advisors will have a lot of questions. This toolkit is designed to help you think through those questions.

We have provided this planning guide for your benefit. Feel free to take the time to review the different sections. Most of this information you will know or have readily available. Please remember that this toolkit does not legally stand as your will; it is simply a way for you to account for all that you have earned over your lifetime. Be sure to share this guide with your legal advisors, as well as your family.

You and Your Executor

An executor is the person legally designated to manage your estate and see your intentions through. Your executor carries out how you intend your estate to be distributed, so you should select a trusted individual who understands your circumstances and intentions fully. An executor tends to complete eight separate processes to ensure the proper distribution and transfer of your property and assets to the designated individuals/or parties:

- Submit your will to the probate court
- Locate your heirs
- Determine your estate assets and values
- Pay bills and the estate attorney
- Make debt payments
- Resolve any estate controversies
- File your income and estate tax returns
- Distribute your assets to heirs

Your Power of Attorney – Medical

A Power of Attorney for Personal Care is a written document in which you give someone the power to make decisions about your personal care should you become unable to make these decisions yourself. Personal care can include your health care, medical treatment, diet, housing, clothing, hygiene, and safety. Although the person you give this power to is called your “attorney,” it does not mean that they are your lawyer. Most often, your attorney is your spouse, a relative, or a close friend.

Your Power of Attorney - Finance

A Power of Attorney for Finance is a written document in which you give someone the power to make decisions about your property and finances if you become unable to make these decisions yourself. For example, your Attorney for Property could be responsible for taking care of your banking matters, managing your investments, running your business, buying and selling real estate on your behalf, or paying your monthly bills. The only thing that you could not appoint an attorney to do is to write your Will. Although the person you give this power to is called your “attorney,” it does not mean that they are your lawyer. Most often, your attorney is your spouse, a relative, or a close friend.

Leaving Your Legacy

As you begin planning your legacy, we hope you will support the work of the Aga Khan Foundation USA. Meaningful change takes time, which is why we've been working in communities across Africa and Asia for decades—and will be there for generations to come. AKF's continued growth and success will require generous support from those who believe in the work we do.

By making a Planned and Legacy (PLG) gift to the Foundation, you help ensure that AKF and its sister agencies across the Aga Khan Development Network will continue improving quality of life for communities worldwide.

The best way to actualize your charitable intentions should be discussed with your attorney or financial advisor. Contact the Foundation when you are ready to develop a plan that includes AKF USA. Our staff will work with you, in confidence, to help you explore and achieve your personal, financial and charitable intentions.

You have an opportunity to make a difference.
